THE VALUE OF MEMBERSHIP

EDUCATION

NCBA always provides excellent educational sessions. We are able to broaden the perspective of many of our employees because these sessions are economical to attend. The networks that result from these sessions are an important knowledge resource for all of our employees. The benefits that the store receives from these opportunities far outweigh the cost of membership.

GROUP BUYING

One of the benefits of being an NCBA member is the opportunity to save money through the NCBA Buying Group. Through the use of our buying group, I can offer a wide range of products at very competitive prices. Everything from filler paper to cassette tapes. As General Merchandise Buyer for my store, I don't have time to compare vendors and products the way the Buying Committee does. I can count on their selection being the best value available.

Debbi Olson, Tacoma Community College Bookstore

THE VENDOR PERSPECTIVE

NCBA launched me into the college business in 1989. The members took me under their wing and taught me the things I needed to know. The theme that came through time after time was to build strong relationships and this would be the key ingredient to long, lasting success. Everyone was correct. Those relationships got me to where I am today. It has gotten me my best line and a great side benefit is the friendships that have grown along the way. In summary, it is a truly tight knit network that cares for its members whether store or vendor.
